Dr. Ray Lauk is an international speaker, entrepreneur, educator, and comic who speaks on time management, entrepreneurial leadership, communication through storytelling, organizational culture and climate, and building organizations that fuel growth through learning. A graduate of Chicago's Second City Improv comedy program, Lauk has performed Improv, stand-up comedy, and storytelling throughout the United States, Spain, Bangkok, and Rio de Janeiro.

The program he will be presenting, FUEL for Success, teaches businesspeople how to manage their time and priorities to get the right things done and to get results! FUEL stands for Focus, Urgency, Energy, and Learning from success. These are the behaviors that Ray Lauk learned as a marketing manager at GE in Bradenton, FL. Come prepared to have fun and to change your behaviors to get greater results every day!

Lauk holds a Ph.D., an MBA, and a Master's in Education—all from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. He is an adjunct professor at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, Concordia University in Chicago, and at The College of New Jersey's International Master's Program in Bangkok. Lauk spent most of his career as a school superintendent in Illinois public school districts and overseas at the American School of Brasilia, Brazil. Lauk is the former Education Vertical Marketing Manager at GE Security. His book, FUEL for Learning, teaches school leaders to implement some of the critical components of the GE culture to improve schools. An entrepreneur, Lauk is the owner of Dr. Ray's Toffee, a gourmet toffee company in Chicago.

Our ever-popular, Brian Wagner, attorney at the FBMA member law firm, Mateer & Harbert will give an update on Legal Issues in Florida that Impact You and Your Business.
